In an increasingly digital age, quality time is hard to come by. At FlexCourt®, we produce state-of-the-art all-weather athletic flooring systems that families can enjoy together. Our hope for our customers is that, by providing activities a family can rally around, we can make quality time just a little simpler. For us, it's about way more than our product; it's about bringing people together.

When the pieces click together, your family will too.

Safety First

Keeping your family safe is a parent's number one priority. FlexCourt systems are designed and proven to absorb shock better than traditional athletic flooring, which can help protect against serious stress-related injuries. Creating an environment that's exciting for children and their friends will also keep them safe at home and away from sometimes dangerous public places, giving parents peace of mind.

Our knowledgeable team can help recommend the court that's right for you.

High-Performance Court Surfaces

Our courts feature a patented interlocking design that allows them to click together, providing a high-performance athletic floor without the need for difficult sealants and long build times. Available in a variety of colors and styles, our courts are completely customizable. They also feature UV and oxidation protection to help protect against wear and tear, allowing you to get the most out of your FlexCourt.
